The future of "electrical transportation is the subject of an interesting article in a recont fixual of the Electrical Engineer. The next field to be eccupied is that of the elevated and other city and suburban rapid transit passenger lines. The undertaking is a far more difficult one, but its accomplishment may, in our opinion, be looked for at no distant day. The conditions of the problem have been thoroughly mestered, the obstacles to be met with are sufficiently well appreciated and understood, and meanwhile seems!

Farmers around Whatcom, Mon., complain that they are unable to protect of themselves against the hordes of deer and hatelops which ravage their orchards and better the process. deratood, and meanwhile several of the ablest practical electricians of the day are devoting their best energies to the subject. No less than four electric locomotives designed for this class of service are under construction by different parties at the present time, and we shall be much disappointed if one or more of them does not, upon trial, give sufficiently favorable results to render the future ancess of electric traction on railways of this class an assured success. The relief to the public in being freed from the annoyance of pleam, smoke and cinders, and a great measure of noise as well, will be incalculable, while the probable resulting economy in operating expenses, although in our opinion considerably overestimated by sendicent to render the change a profitable one to the owners of the roads.

Another field, and one in which the electric reaching and improving the poor chillenge and the colors an ablest practical electricians of the day are one to the owners of the roads.

Another field, and one in which the electro-locomotive of the future may be expected to achievo its greatest triumphs, is that of rapid passenger traffic between curchief commercial centers. Steam locomotion, so far as speed is concerned, has practically reached its limit. The unavoidable restrictions of bulk and weight forbid any material increase in the power of the express locomotive of to-day. No such restrictions apply to the electric engine. The amount of power which by this means it is possible to apply to the axles of an ordinary train without materially increasing its weight, may, without exaggeration, be said to be almost limit, as the crow flies; it will follow the topographical undulations of the country almost regardless to grades, and its trains will attain a speed of more than 100 miles per hour, with esiety. Without doubt, this may be looked forward to as the next. per hour with eafety. Without doubt this may be looked forward to as the nex great step in the progressive improvemen of the art of transportation. Insemuch as we shall soon have two electrical reads running in Wheeling, and inasmuch as our people are even now bamade use of, it may be of interest to them to read and have at command, the following definitions, which we find in a late number of the Richmond, Va., Dispatch:

An "accumulator" is another term ifor secondary batteries, which are charged by the current generated by a dynamo-electrical machine or a battery of chemicals.

The "valt" is the unit of electro-motive force and not put

The "volt" is the unit of electro-motive force and potential.

The "ampere" is the unit of current.

The "are" is the space between two carbon points in which the electric light is formed. It contains carbon vapor and gives off the violent rays which produce the steely appearance of the are light.

The "armature" is the keeper of the magnet. In dynamo machines it is the part subjected to rapid revolutions, and closes the magnetic lines of the field magnet.

Fortunate for the Newspaper Men.
Miss Nina Van Zandt's evil communi-Miss Nina Van Zandt's evil communications with Anarchist law-breakers have soured her disposition and led her to utter things almost unutterable. "I don't believe there is a hell," she says, "for I am an Agnostic, but the only regret I have for my belief is that it deprives me of the pleasure of knowing that it will soon be peopled by journalists."

Besides being very fortunate for the newspaper men, assuming that there is no such place as Miss Van Zandt speaks of, this is very illogical from the point of view of an Agnestic. Miss Van Zandt forgets that as an Agnostic she assumes the role of a know-nothing. That it is what it is to be what she calls herself.

Agacaticism does not abolish hell; it does not abolish anything but belief; with regard to positive propositions in religion it does not know. To believe that there is no hell is as fatal to Agnosticism as to believe that there is a hell. Your true Agnostic believes nothing because he

Benton's Hair Grower,

Benton's Hair Grower.

All who are bald, all who are becoming bald, all who do not want to be bald, all who are troubled with dandruff, or itching of the easly, chould use Benton's Hair Grower. Eighty per cent of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through cickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a chort time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years. We have fully cubatantiated the following facts:

We grow hair in 30 cases out of 100; no matter how long bald.
Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or veguable or mineral poisons. It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff and itching of the easip.

The liair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is aimost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

The symtoms of Biliousness are unhappily but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfast eator. Too frequently, alse, he has an excellent appetite for liquide but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear in spection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhea or Constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness.in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower, it cost but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.
